

Introducing Cloud Revolution's Teams Phone Pilot Program

Before making the switch to Microsoft Teams as your unified communication system, it's crucial to conduct a pilot program to ensure the right fit and optimal outcomes. Cloud Revolution, the leading integrated cloud communications service provider, offers a comprehensive solution to facilitate and manage your Teams Phone Pilot.

Why choose Cloud Revolution for your Teams Phone Pilot?

- 1. Expert Facilitation: Our experienced team will guide you through the entire pilot program, ensuring best practices are followed and accurate results are obtained.
- 2. Goal-Oriented Approach: We work with you to define clear objectives aligned with your organization's needs, providing a solid foundation for the pilot program and justifying its importance.
- 3. Leadership Buy-in: We help secure sponsorship from key stakeholders throughout your organization, fostering participation and diverse perspectives from different departments.
- 4. Resource Allocation: Cloud Revolution assists in allocating the necessary time, resources, and budget for the pilot program, ensuring its success and seamless integration with your existing projects.
- 5. Defined Use Cases: We collaborate with you to identify and test the specific use cases relevant to your UC platform evaluation, ranging from conferencing and collaboration to mobility and third-party integrations.
- 6. Hardware Evaluation: As part of the pilot, we provide access to and gather feedback on hardware devices such as handsets, headsets, and conference room systems, ensuring comprehensive assessment and user familiarity.
- 7. Microsoft Support: Throughout the pilot, we leverage Microsoft's dedicated resources, including training classes and technical documentation, to address any questions or unexpected situations that may arise.
- 8. Analysis and Implementation Planning: Our pilot program committee analyzes the outcomes, carefully considering any limitations or integration challenges. Based on the findings, we collaborate with you to define the next steps for a successful full implementation plan.
